Are you ignoring local customers?

Are you welcoming foreign customers?

"Most people prefer to buy online in their own language, and, in fact, the majority of people in some countries will pay more for a product with information in their own language."

—Common Sense Advisory, 2006

Globalize your website

"I must commend you on your process and knowledge. It was very helpful that you were able to do the translation right into html, as well as translating all of our graphics. My contact was very responsive and supportive. And you were with me every step of the way, making sure that our needs were met."

—Beth Adams, Marketing Director, PIERS
